Comments from a teacher who participated in the program:

"Over the last three decades I have had the pleasure of educating students. I have seen trends and programs come and go, but rarely do I encounter a program which survives the test of time and makes a lifelong impact on students. The California Invention Convention is the most exciting opportunity for students and educators alike! My students beg for the lessons and they support each other in their quests to find and solve problems in the world." JM
